HERALD JOB PRINT

Announcement.

The attention of the public is called to the approaching visit of Mr. Frederic Villiers, the well-known war correspondent and artist of the London Graphic, who went through the Servian campaign and the Russo-Turkish war with Archibald Forbes, afterwards accompanying the Afghanistan expedition and the mission to Abyssinia, serving through the entire Egyptian campaign, and the recent Soudan and Burmese expeditions. Among other famous engagements he has participated in, may be mentioned Plevna and Tel-el-Kebir, and he was the only correspondent in the square of 1200 which, under Stewart, cut its way through to the Nile.

As a war artist and correspondent, Mr. Villiers holds the highest position; he was an actor in the historic scenes which he describes and illustrates, and "Lord Wolseley, presiding at one of his lectures, stated that he had always found him a most accurate and faithful witness." Mr. Villiers' illustrated lectures have been received with remarkable favor in England, and the demand for him is so great that he could be occupied every evening in the season. He decided, however, to come to America, and arrived in New York a few days ago, where he gave his first lecture before an American audience with great success at Steinway Hall. The preliminary notice of his intended visit aroused unusual interest, and the warm recognition which is being unanimously accorded to a brave man, will commend this engagement to the general public, who will not be slow in availing themselves of this unique opportunity to see and hear for themselves the man who has been through so much for their entertainment and edification.

Mr. Villiers is a man of fine presence, and appears on the platform in travelling costume. He is a fluent speaker, and has a fund of humor which keeps his audience in the best of spirits. His sketches are bold and full of talent, and in addition to their value as illustrative of the lecture, they are most interesting as fac similes of the actual sketches taken on the spot, and often to the accompaniment of cannon's roar and rifle's whirr. We are confident that Mr. Villiers will repeat here his great success in England and the United States.
